TELEGRAPH NEWS.

At the Lexington races, yesterday, McEntire's Katie Pease and McAllis's Big Fellow were the winners.

John Crown, of Paterson, New Jersey, attempted, yesterday, to kill his wife, and failing, killed himself.

Meetings to express sympathy with suffering Louisiana were held last evening in Memphis and Louisville.

Kingsland's paper mills, between Belleville and Passaic, New Jersey, were burned yesterday morning with a large stock. Loss $40,000; partially insured.

A dispatch from Constantinople says the Government of Angora, reports 24,000 people utterly destitute and will require maintenance throughout the winter.

William D. Holman, President of the Central Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, was held in $20,000 bail, yesterday, to answer to a charge of forgery and conspiracy in raising checks.

The Executive Committee, of the Independent Republicans of South Carolina, have bolted the nomination of Chamberlain, have issued a call for an Independent Republican Convention, to meet in Charleston, October 24, to nominate a State ticket.

Four men, recognized by the driver of one of the stages as the Gad's Hill robbers, stopped four stages between Malvern and Hot Springs, on Thursday, and robbed the passengers of about $2,000. Ladies and invalids were not disturbed. Twenty armed men are in pursuit of the robbers.

The representatives of George Brown, of Halifax, and Francis Morris, of Pittsburgh, have posted $1,000 as part of the $4,000 in gold, for which the principals are to row on the Kennebec river at St. Johns, N. B. The course is five miles in length. The final deposit of $2,000 will be posted on the 24th.

Full arrangements were made in Terre Haute, yesterday, for the dissolution of the Paris and Decatur, and the Decatur and Peoria railroads. All are to be under the management of President R. G. Hervey. The last part of the iron connecting Decatur and Peoria will be down inside of thirty days.

General Emory yesterday informed Governor Kellogg that he was ready, in pursuance of the orders of the President, to afford him the necessary support to re-establish the State Government. Kellogg replied, asking the General to continue his control until today. Kellogg also issued his order to the Metropolitan police to organize and resume their duties.

The morning papers of Nashville contain a stirring address of the Democratic State Committee on the civil rights bill and the lawlessness in Tennessee, fixing the responsibility on the authors and supporters of that bill for the lawless acts, making an eloquent appeal to the Nashville people, denouncing in strong terms the slanders upon Tennessee and advising obedience to the law under all circumstances.

The President, in conversation yesterday, said that he believed all serious trouble in Louisiana was now over, and expressed the hope that business would be fully resumed in New Orleans and elsewhere in the State. He was gratified in learning that there had been no conflict whatever between the Federal and State troops, and that the general government had not been forced to exercise extreme measures.

Albert Cunz, of the United States secret service, indicted in connection with the Washington safe burglary and conspiracy, yesterday afternoon surrendered himself to United States Marshal Fisk, of New York. In this case of Judge Blatchford, in the United States District Court, he was taken before Commissioner Osborn who admitted him to bail in $1,000, and the United States Marshal, waiting for the trial, is expected to have irregularity there might be owing to the absence of the Judge of the district.

Colonel W. L. Clark, of Louisville, Commander-in-Chief of the Kentucky State troops, yesterday received a telegram from the Quarter-Master General of the State, informing him that outlaws in Breathitt county had barricaded themselves in the court house at Jackson in large numbers, and ordered that all the State military in the city be ready to move at a moment's warning. In pursuance of the order, Colonel Clark has two hundred men in readiness to take two pieces of artillery. Sixty men left yesterday for Breathitt county, and are on the march to Jackson.

A large number of letters have recently been received from grain men in various parts of Minnesota, and nearly every one of them contains a contradiction of the early estimates in regard to the extent of the wheat crop. It is alleged that generally the yield will fall very far below the published estimates of the gentlemen who have given the matter attention. The crop in the near vicinity of St. Paul is reported heavier than anywhere else in the State, and the threshing machines are already dispatching the grain to the elevators. The total crop of 25,000,000 bushels in Minnesota for the year 1874.

The latest news regarding the strike of the coal miners in St. Clair county, Illinois, is that the miners at Pinkneyville, Edwardsville, Collinsville, and other places are joining the strikers. In the Belleville district the managers of the co-operative mines are willing to accede to the demand for increased pay, but their men are not allowed to work until all the operators yield. It is stated in co-operative quarters that the strike was brought about in the interest of parties in St. Louis who are carrying a large stock of coal, and that the intention is to cut off the supply until the yards are nearly cleared out.

The general railroad passenger agents of the United States began their semi-annual convention yesterday morning in the St. Nicholas Hotel at New York. On account of inclement weather there was but a small attendance of delegates. The principal business is to regulate the passenger rates for the ensuing winter. The officers elected were: President, T. L. Kimball; vice president, E. A. Brown; secretary, Samuel Powell; executive committee, Messrs. W. B. Shattuck, John N. Abbott, and B. W. Wren. The sessions are expected to last until Thursday next, and are conducted with closed doors.

The Senator's second key-note was louder than his first.

CONTRARY to the experience of most railroads, the report of the Union Pacific shows an increase in earnings this summer over the corresponding months last year. This is referred to the grain traffic from the Pacific coast, the crop of which is very heavy, being estimated at thirteen millions of bushels more than last year, two millions of which are wheat.

OLLEMAN writes an open letter to General Coburn in which he asks why he didn't publish other letters of his advocating the principles now professed by the Independents. The letter is moderate and in good taste, but it manifests moral inability to see anything culpable in demanding an office under threats, and when disappointed, preaching that the office should seek the man, not the man the office.

The Sun, or rather a correspondent of the Sun, has discovered a terrible plot among the Republicans to appoint two hundred deputy sheriffs and two hundred deputy U. S. Marshalls in order to carry the election. About this time look out for such cock and bull stories. We had this same one two years ago, in company with a great many others, and yet it has never been disputed that that election was a perfectly fair one. While some of our politicians on either side are not immaculate, their opportunities for wholesale swindling are not so good as they once were. The only danger two years ago was in the order of the County Commissioners that all voting should be done at the Court House, which if carried out would have disfranchised thousands and have produced violence. If the managers on both sides this year will denounce and expose any attempt at cheating, especially on their own side, there will be very little of it done. An honest ballot is the main bulwark of Republican government and it is every citizen's solemn duty and highest interest to preserve its purity. Election frauds should be met with the severest punishment and the men who wilfully stuff a ballot box ought to be hung.

The sober, second sense of the people will approve the action of the President in reinstating the Kellogg government in Louisiana. His government has been an oppressive one, there is little doubt that he was not elected and that he has usurped the power belonging to McEnery. But his has been, right or wrong, the recognized government of the State. He called upon the President in accordance with the constitution for support and protection, and the President must reinstate him in authority if he would obey the law. The Arkansas case, decided so recently in the same way, leaves no room for any other action within the pale of law or precedent. To have acted otherwise would have been to usurp a power unpossessed and to trample upon the constitution. The insurgents had but a few weeks more to wait until an election would have given an opportunity to change the government peacefully, and their coup d'etat looks like an effort to make sure of that. It is said they feared a fraudulent election, and yet the Shreveport Times, one of his bitterest opponents, concedes that Kellogg was, whether for a good or bad purpose, endeavoring to make the election orderly and fair. Fears that such an election might not result in their favor may have influenced their action.

SENATOR MORTON'S speech last night was far superior to his Terre Haute address. It was upon his favorite subject, where he is always at home, and the facts of which he has at his finger's ends. It is the subject which affords him his greatest political capital and which if exhausted would leave him almost bankrupt. The outbreaks of violence in Louisiana and the Southern States have been a god-send to the Senator and politicians of his class who have been made eminent by their war services, rather than by any special ability they have exhibited in the government of the country since. Nothing shows more clearly the fatuity and blindness of the Southern people who seek for relief by aggressive acts, than the effect their deeds have to revive the old spirit and make the intolerant advocates of the gospel of hate, leaders for the time. Much as one may regret it and hope for the establishment of thorough peace, it is impossible to deny that this distrust of the Southern people is natural and that they have themselves to blame if Northern people accept the opinions of such men as Senator Morton and carry out the policies advocated by them. The Senator makes a very strong case. He usually does on this subject. He attacks all the weak points, shows up all the outrages and barbarous acts, but his speech is thoroughly partisan and one-sided. Much can be said in answer to it. It is due to him, however, and those who believe with him, to say that while the policy of reconstruction enforced is savagely condemned and bitterly opposed, no one has suggested another which would secure the freedom of the negroes and maintain their rights as citizens. We mean their absolute right to live in peace and make a living, and the enforcement of any such social privileges or restrictions as are contemplated in the Civil Rights Bill. That is an abnormal measure which is certain to fail until human nature is transformed. No government could enforce it, unless it might be an unqualified despotism. But the government is bound to protect the lives and property of its citizens, black or white, North or South, and it is not worth having if it can't do it. Senator Morton's method of doing it is familiar to the public. It is not a success—its consequences are in many instances deplorable—but it has the advantage of being the only defined policy, and is likely to be until both Southerners and Northerners learn a little wisdom.

If Horatio Seymour has positively decided not to accept the nomination for Governor under any circumstances, it is more than likely, judging from the past, that he will be nominated unanimously, will accept simultaneously, and be defeated tumultuously. [Graphic.]

"Ramon."

EL REFUGIO MINE, NORTHERN MEXICO, 1874.

Drunk and senseless in his place. Prone and sprawling on his face. Like brute than any man alive or dead. By the lamp, he lay, out of gear. Lay the peon upon his back. Waking only just to hear.

Angry tones that called his name. Oaths and cries of bitter blame. Woke to hear all this, and waking, turned and fled: "To the man who'll bring me here," Cried the foreman Harry Lee. "Bring the sot alive or dead. I will give to him," he said, "Fifteen hundred pesos down. Just to see the rascal's crown Underneath this head of mine; At the force but death. Deserves the man whose deed. Be it vice or want of heed. Stop the pump that give us breath— Stop the pumps that suck the death From the poisoned lower levels of the mine!"

No one answered, for a cry From the shaft rose up on high; And the shuffling, scrambling, tumbling from below. Came the miners each, the bolder Mooting on the weaker's shoulder. Grappling clinging to their hold or Letting go.

As the weaker gasped and fell From the added weight of hell To the poisoned pit of hell Down below!

"To the man who sets them free," Cried the foreman Harry Lee. "Bring them out and set them free. I will give the man," said he, "Twelve hundred pesos down. Face to face with death shall cope. Let him come who dares to hope!"

"Hold your peace!" some one replied, Standing by the foreman's side. "There has one already gone, whose'er he be!"

Then they held their breath with awe, Pulling on the rope, and saw Fainting figures reappear. On the black rock swinging clear. Fastened by some skillful hand from below: Tilt a score the level gained. And but one alone remained. He the hero and the last. He whose skillful hand made fast The long line that brought them back to hope and cheer!

Haggard, gasping, down dropped he Harry Lee, the English foreman of the mine. "I have come," he gasped, "to claim Both reward and honor, my name Is Ramon."

He the drunken engineer— I'm the coward, "senor." Here He fell over, by that sign Dead as stone!

John Ingelow, the English poetess, has a nephew, Edward Ingelow Pitman, to whom she is giving a collegiate education at the college at New Brunswick, New Jersey. This youth, fifteen years of age, came to this country alone and unattended, to satisfy an earnest desire to see America and be educated here.

Revs. James Freeman Clarke, Dr. George C. Lorimer and John Weiss preached at Boston, Sunday, on the recent address on Materialism by Tyndall before the British Scientific Association. Clarke and Lorimer took strong grounds against Tyndall's position, though the former thought it didn't imply atheism, while Weiss gave it his hearty approval.

The aspects of business are improving in Boston steadily, and in a sense keeping pace with them in New York. Everything looks remarkably encouraging. The revival may be slow, but it will be without interruption. Cheering facts begin to make themselves apparent in the various branches of trade, and the fall business will without doubt grow to large and healthy dimensions.—[Boston Times.]

A Hyde Park (Mass.) dog, which has amused people frequently on the Fourth of July by pluckily seizing a lighted bunch of fire-crackers in his mouth and shaking them lustily while the explosions were going on, tried the same trick on a fuse running into a log containing a charge of gunpowder, the other day, but in a twinkling found himself twenty feet above the earth. He will get well, however.

A NEAT RETORT.

Watterson as Seen by the Good Deacon and His Wicked Partners.

[From the Cincinnati Gazette.]

We have never entertained a high opinion of the wisdom of Mr. Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. Perhaps "when age gathers o'er him the mantle of years" his judgment will have ripened into common sense. Just now he is a young man to whom chance has given a higher place than he is qualified to fill. He is too "valley" to realize his responsibilities. He writes like a Bohemian. He thinks more of "smart" things than of sound things. He shows the need of study and early training. He talks glibly of a third term and "a Man on Horseback," prides himself that he is a "talker," "a writer," a "champion," and sherry," and is in essence if his boozey nonsense is good-naturedly ridiculed. He is celebrated as a poker player, and he dwells sadly on the disappointments of the Mahille. His editorials are sometimes devoted to the wickedness of the press, and he writes occasional paragraphs that could only be read in a can-can establishment. He elucidates at length the technicalities of the "code," and defends the Louisville Library lottery as an institution founded on the principles of morality. What is Seen on a Random Visit—Premises Awarded Yesterday, etc.
The Exposition has now been in full blast
nearly two weeks and the closing of the second week finds everything pretty much in its place and the display within the building may be said to have reached its climax. The attendance this week has been satisfactory and fully as great as the corresponding week last year. Those, however, who can be present only one day during the Exposition are saving themselves for the State Fair week, which opens up on the 28th inst. and for which the State Board are making extensive preparations. The indications are that the display of live stock this year will be very fine and the additional attractions of several good races will draw immense crowds. All these interesting features, however, are in the future and will be mentioned in detail
at the proper time.

THE EXPOSITION.
The number of firms making display in the jewelry line this year is for some reason very limited, none save Colclazer and Craft having put in their appearance up to date.
It was only yesterday Harry got his display properly arranged, having been disappointed in getting some show cases ordered for a special occasion. In addition to a rich collection of ladies brooches, finger-rings, gold watches, opera glasses, etc., he shows a beautifully designed flower basket made up of the most delicate pearl white shells, the handwork of a native of the East Indies.
It is a most exquisite affair and is generally admired. A mechanical singing bird adds to its attractive display. A very ordinary tumbler, plate and ink stand are exhibited,
"formerly used by Maximilian," all of which may be true, but the less credulous incline to pass it by with a suspicion that it is a fraud.
Those rejected models occupy a considerable space in the north end of the building, and to the casual observer look like so many children's playthings, jumbled together in promiscuous heaps. Some of them have been faintly labeled but it would puzzle the most of a mechanical genius to decipher what the majority of them were designed to represent.
This department might be made an interesting and instructive one if the models were properly displayed, and some one presented to give desired information to the inquisitive spectators. On ascending the east stairway the mind's eye at once takes in the elegant furniture display of Solomon & Son, of New York, who occupy a large space on the upper floor, which has been fitted up in expensive style and the elaborate and handsomely gotten up parlor and bedroom sets, sofas, mirrors, etc., gives to the inclosure
quite a royal appearance.

Adjoining them on the north are Adams &
Mansur, of this city, whose display of carpets, furniture sets, etc., is equally as creditable and as much admired as that of the Eastern house. Shover & Christian make a good show of plain and ornamental French glass set in frames, and evidently of superior quality. In the extreme east end of the building, John O. Hanning has located himself, and has artistically arranged a large display of gas fixtures, lamps, chandeliers
and accompanying ornaments.
Quite a portion of the south hall has been set apart for the display of musical instruments, and almost every make is here represented, but the Son counts first in the order, and represent the Weber and Haines Brothers piano, and the Woods Parlor Organs. They make an extensive show, and their instruments rank high in the musical world. Adjoining them is a Cincinnati firm, the "Union" Piano, and the Piano, and the England or Jubilee Organ, instruments of much merit. Wolfson & Co., of Connors-ville, represent the interests of the Steck, Lindeman & Sons, and Behning & Diehl manufactures, the first mentioned make being considered by many superior in some respects to the older and better established instruments. They also exhibit the New Haven Organ, and it is the intention of Wolfson & Co. to remove to this city for permanent location this fall, to engage in the sale of musical instruments.
The celebrated Steinway piano holds its own and is represented on this occasion by Prof. Soehner, of this city. He also exhibits the Hazelton & Bro. and the Gabler make.
The list would not be complete without the old reliable "Chickering," which in this instance is represented by M. A. Reilly. The Light & Ernest piano and the Palace organ
are also noticeable in his display.
A. M. Benham completes the list of exhibitors in this department, and the Knabe piano is the instrument that takes rank in his collection. In the line of organs he shows the Shover and the Jubilee make, in addition to which he exhibits a dilapidated piano of antediluvian time, labeled, "We have no idea this instrument was used by Bethoven," from which some draw the inference that perhaps it was once the property of that great master, and in fact some one writing from this city to the Terre Haute papers speaks of this in this latter connection.
The display of musical instruments is indeed quite an extensive and creditable one,
and this department is one of the features on the second floor.
The concert last evening under the direction of Prof. Shonacker was an enjoyable affair, a tip-top program being very acceptably rendered. General Phil. Sheridan and staff unexpectedly put in an appearance during the evening and were shown about the building and grounds under the direction of the Board.
Grady's man, McCaw, will make another balloon ascension at 4 o'clock to-day, and this evening a dance has been arranged for under direction of Colonel Holloway.
The awards in the display of cut flowers
were made as follows:
Best loose collection of cut flowers, premium $20
and $15—Anthony Wiegand, first premium; Long & Bock, second premium.
Best collection of basket flowers, premium $30
and $10—Anthony Wiegand, first premium; Lang & Bock, second premium; H. Hilker, third premium.
Best basket cut flowers, premium $5 and $4.
Lang & Bock, first premium; Heil, second premium; H. Hilker, third premium.

HOODLUMS IN TWELFTH WARD.
Last week when the temperance ladies
held an open-air meeting near the Riverside Mission, in the Twelfth Ward, they were greatly annoyed by the presence of a crowd of ruffianly overgrown boys, who returned last night and were still more aggressive in tone. The leaders of the boys were pointed out by citizens as sons of saloon keepers in that Ward. On both occasions the ladies persisted with their services, but hereafter they perhaps they will be free from the interference of the boys. Under the old regime the police protected open-air meetings, whether political or religious.

The views of Indianapolis forwarded by Dr.
Elliott has been reproduced in Leslie's illustrated. The earlier ones are taken from Gleason's historical sketches, the other, as seen, is of modern date.

Was not the lack of a fire cistern at the intersection of Washington, Illinois and Kentucky avenue the main reason why the present Chief Fire Engineer ordered one to be built on Market, near Illinois?

The Indiana & Illinois Central railroad company have appointed John R. Elder trustee for the sale of 30,000 acres of land in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Michigan, the proceeds to be used for the payment of unsecured claims against the city.

Rev. Thomas X. Dogan has been located at Brownsburg, Hendricks county; Rev. John K. at Cambridge City, Wayne county;
and Rev. Dennis Carr at Greensburg, Jay County. The other priests ordained at the same time are yet unassigned.

Because a Sullivan county preacher burned Parson Goodwin's "Mode of Man's Immortality" in disgust, the Journal mournfully observes: "Times have changed. It used to be the fashion to burn the heretic; now they only burn the heresy." There are others who mourn with the Journal on the changed times.

Will the council rule Monday night that its Civil Engineer has the right to wink over the destruction of a 1,900 barrel cistern through the carelessness of a contractor and allow him to obliterate it entirely and that too in the most important center of business?
If so, instead of going to several dollars expense in lowering the one on West Maryland, Hanna might just as well knock the top off and filled it up when he improved that street. If it was right on Kentucky avenue for Wirth & Co., it was equally justifiable for Hanna.

HE COULDN'T LIE.
A Confession and Its Consequences.
[From the Burlington Hawkeye.]
There is a man living on Fifth street who is a good man, endeavoring to train up his children in the way they should go, and as his flock is numerous, and two of them are boys, he has anything but a sinucure in his training business. One day two boys, the elder of these olive branches, who has lived about fourteen wicked years, enticed his younger brother, who has had only ten years' experience in boyish devilry, to go out on the river in a boat, a species of pastime which their father had often forbidden. But the boys went this time, trusting to luck to conceal their depravity from the knowledge of their pa, and in due time they returned, and walked around the house, the two most innocent looking boys in Burlington. They separated for a few moments, and at the expiration of that time the elder was suddenly confronted by the father, who requested a private interview in the usual place, and the pair adjourned to the wood-shed, where, after a brief but highly spirited performance, in which the boy appeared most successfully as a villain, and the father

These Lots are situated south of the beautiful U.
S. Park, and of the Woodruff Place, and bounded west by Arsenal avenue, east by State avenue, and south by East Vermont street. All streets in this beautiful addition are graded and improved with asphaltum pavements. The center street, St. Louis avenue, has a Street Park 40 feet wide running in
the center of it.
Water and gas are also connected with this addition. Furthermore, there is now being constructed
a large sewer, with connection already laid to
each lot.
Every lot has no less than 40 feet front, and from 150 to 180 feet in depth, running to an alley of 20
feet.
All of these beautiful Lots lie above the grade of the streets, and are naturally on the most elevated
point above our great city.
The Arsenal ground and the Woodruff Park,
both of which are directly opposite some of these
lots, afford to them a splendid view.
There is no better location, within the same distance, where carriages will be so conveniently
residences than here offered.
Terms of sale will be made public by the Au-

FINE RESIDENCE PROPERTY AT Auction Sale,
Opposite the U. S. Arsenal Park,
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1874.

These Lots are situated south of the beautiful U.
S. Park, and of the Woodruff Place, and bounded
west by Arsenal avenue, east by State avenue, and
south by East Vermont street. All streets in this beautiful addition are graded and improved with asphaltum pavements. The center street, St. Louis avenue, has a Street Park 40 feet wide running in
the center of it.
Water and gas are also connected with this addition. Furthermore, there is now being constructed
a large sewer, with connection already laid to
each lot.
Every lot has no less than 40 feet front, and from 150 to 180 feet in depth, running to an alley of 20
feet.
All of these beautiful Lots lie above the grade of
the streets, and are naturally on the most elevated
point above our great city.
The Arsenal ground and the Woodruff Park,
both of which are directly opposite some of these
lots, afford to them a splendid view.
There is no better location, within the same distance, where carriages will be so conveniently
residences than here offered.
Terms of sale will be made public by the Auctioneer on the day of the sale, on the premises.

A. L. HUNT,
AUCTIONEER.
For further information in regard to this property, before the day of sale, call or address the office of Lehnritter & Naltner, 14 and 16 South Delaware

THE EVENING NEWS

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1874.
1 P. M. Barometer, 29.876 | Thermometer, 62°

CITY NEWS.

The Evening News has the largest circulation in the city, and is the most desirable medium or reaching all classes.

The Superior Court jury fees this week foot up $180.

There is a dangerous hole on Tinker street, near Illinois.

Cathcart & Cleland have received Harper's Monthly for October.

Another series of marching orders had better be given to that mob of pickpockets.

The Marion county Grangers were in secret council to-day at the Court-house rooms.

The Superior court judges have engaged rooms in Wright's new block on East Market street.

The approach of cold weather, or else election times, brings Ray McDougal again to the city for residence.

Does anybody know who constitute the detective corps of this city, or is the matter kept remarkably dark?

Another victim of "poisonous influence" was lodged in the station-house this forenoon. He was too drunk to give his name.

Her Majesty's Chief Examiner of Engineers, John McFarland Gray of London, is in the city, and witnessed the parade Thursday.

If the truth were known, would it not be made to appear that a Councilman is solely responsible for the Hamill claim on South Meridian?

A bastardy suit was brought to-day before Snook, in which the complaining party is a girl of only 12 years and the defendant a married man.

Is Powell's watch the first thing the new detective force of the city has turned up, or was the treasure brought to light unaided by Captain Hennessy?

The Street Supervisor North this week expended $712.90, and the Street Supervisor South $588.62. Extravagance is running strong, but the end will come.

Marriage licenses have been issued to George Fluhrer and Louise Maria Meyer; David Stephenson and Charlotte M. Denny; Frederick Plate and Caroline Langenberg.

Pat Garvin, 259 South Mississippi street, died yesterday from an injury received the day before in getting out of his wagon, he slipping, and the wheel striking him in the groin.

The County Commissioners to-day granted the liquor application of James A. O'Neil, reconsidered that of Ludwig Sahms and granted it, and refused the petition of Lewis Smith.

A warrant has been filed for the arrest of O'Connell Curran at the instance of Bridget Sullivan, who charges him with assaulting her Thursday last. The case will be heard before Snook.

Theodore Idell, 110 South East street, an iron maker, this morning at Boyd's Block, severed the artery of his wrist by an accidental fall through a window pane. The flow of blood was stopped with difficulty.

Officers Steele and Huston, of Greensboro, N. C., arrived to-day for Hannah Cox, charged with infanticide. The officers tell a story of the drama and disgrace which her fall has brought upon a respectable family in that State.

The obliteration of a cistern on Kentucky avenue, during the building of the sewer several years ago, worries the News terribly. [Journal.] No more than does any other thing by which the city is defrauded out of valuable improvements.

And now comes the ghastly rumor to the front that when the Kentucky avenue sewer was built, the Council employed as special sewer engineer Mr. Brown, and that it was Brown, not Patterson, who winked at the disappearance of that cistern? Is there anybody else?

Hanson, Hines & Miller and Judah & Lamm appear for the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company in the suit brought against it for $10,000 on the policy of Thomas N. Stillwell, of Anderson, which the Company refuse to pay on account of the manner in which the deceased came to his death.

Capt. Hennessy yesterday returned a watch to Supervisor Powell which was stolen months ago, and thinks his work accomplished and well worth the $50 reward. But why does he not report from whom the watch was secured? What punishment is it to the thief, if Hennessy "whacks up" with him, and allows him to go unprosecuted?

About every day the morning papers gravely assert that Sergeant so and so "last night ordered such and such a mob of pickpockets to take the first train out of town, or he run in. The thing broke out as usual this morning, but the News ventures to assert that the same mob "ordered" away a week ago, three nights ago, and again last night, didn't budge an inch toward the corporation line, and what's more, the police know it.

Sheriff's Arrests.

Deputy Blume, to-day made the following arrests of parties indicted for violation of the liquor law, all of whom gave the usual bail: William Doerre, 5 cases; Fred Zapf, 6; William Hays, 5; and Harry Walker, 3.

Call for a Convention.

Miss Auretta Hoyt, Vice President of the Seventh Congressional District under the State organization, has issued a call for a temperance convention of this district, to be held at Greencastle, September 30, the object being "to meet and oppose the organized support and defense of the liquor traffic, with the united moral force of society, to, and to organize the Seventh District in accordance with the constitution adopted at the State Convention."

New Suits.

Abandonment is the ground on which Herman H. Meyer sues for divorce from his wife Caroline.

Mary Dunn alleges, in a complaint, that Mary and Robert O'Neil have slandered her good name, for which she wants $5,000 damages.

Oliver B. Stout brings action against Mary Maggart for $1,350 alleged to be due him for boarding and lodging the defendant from January, '64, to the 1st of January, 1874.

Ardelia E. Swift, by her next friend, H. W. Roberts, brings suit for slander against one Nancy Bridgeford, whom, the complainant sets forth, circulated and caused to be published a damaging charge against the plaintiff, and for which she wants $5,000 and all proper relief.

Sunday School Work.

Notwithstanding the rain this morning, just at the hour of meeting, there were between forty and fifty teachers present at the Sunday School Teachers' meeting, held under the direction of the Young Men's Christian Association. This is the third meeting that has been held, and the advantage of them has been fully demonstrated to every one who has attended. A much larger number of teachers were present this morning than at either of the other meetings. C. P. Jacobs conducted the exercises, which were taken part in by a goodly number of the ladies and gentlemen present. Next Sunday being quarterly review day, the lessons for the past quarter will come up for consideration. Rev. W. W. Dowling will conduct the exercises. Sunday School Superintendents are requested to make this announcement to their schools to-morrow and urge their teachers to come.

At Masonic Hall.

The largest political gathering of the campaign assembled at Masonic Hall last night to hear the distinguished Senator Morton on the situation of the South, especially Louisiana. He was introduced by ex-Governor Baker, and his speech was a review of Southern events with which his Senatorial course and conspicuous political position has made him familiar. There was less of a partisan than usual in the opinions promulgated, notwithstanding they came from an official Republican standpoint, and the statistics presented were an overwhelming force of the reign of terror now blasting that land. The sequel is that he upholds the Kellogg government, though admitting frauds on both sides, and he has little hope for the future until the South universally recognizes the doctrine of equal rights and the latest acceptance of the word Republicanism. General Ben Harrison followed the Senator in a few words delivered in his usual electrical manner, and then the meeting adjourned.

School Commissioners.

The Board met in regular session last evening and the County School Superintendent was given the use of a room in the High School building in which to hold teachers' meetings. The Superintendent's office was directed to remove the children living on Tennessee street, from Louisiana street to the street corporation line, from the Sixth District house to the building in the Twelfth District.

Mrs. Morey, teacher in drawing, was allowed an assistant in that department, and the appointment was given to Mrs. Lord at a salary of $500 a year. The salaries of the janitors of the High School building were increased to $125 during the school months. The Finance Committee reported recommending the payment claims amounting to $1,217.63.

The Superintendent was instructed to purchase one copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary for each building and also the number of colored cards, maps and charts that he may think necessary.

The Prospect street school was ordered opened, and the boundaries to be defined to suit the residents in that vicinity.

Messrs. Higgins & Ryan were allowed $900 for furniture supplied to various buildings.

The attendance at the High School this year is 447, a decided increase over last year.

After some further unimportant business the Board adjourned.

The Street Railway Fare to the Exposition.

Upon the request of a Real Estate Exchange committee the City Attorney has delivered a carefully prepared opinion, ruling that the Common Council may declare the line of street railway from Louisiana street to the Exposition one route, and the return one route, and when so declared the Railway Company can not lawfully charge more than five cents for each passenger carried over each of said routes.

This is based upon the 10th section of the original charter, which was repealed by an amendatory act passed February 21st, 1870, and apparently overlooked by Mr. Elliott, the third section of which says: "These rates shall be in lieu of the rates established in section 10 of the ordinance of which this ordinance is amendatory, which section is hereby repealed, and nothing in this or any other section shall be so construed as to prevent said company from furnishing cars for any special purpose, at such rates as may be agreed upon between the company and the contracting party." Under this section the company contracted with the State Board to carry for 10 cents a passenger, and it can very well be got around.

WE MEAN BUSINESS!

All goods engraved free of charge.

Academy of Music.

The Haverly Minstrels drew a fair house last night, and gave a performance which could not have failed to satisfy the most critical. The troupe has kept its word with the public, and has changed its program from night to night as advertised. Few combinations in the minstrel line have presented a greater array of talent than Mr. Haverly has succeeded in bringing together. The antics of Canfield and Booker, the dancing of Goss and Fox, the singing of Welling Bros., and J. W. Freeth, Hall, banjo playing, and the instrumentation of the orchestra are all worthy of praise. Add to this that the company seems to work together with a hearty good will and to take a pride in their efforts, and you have said more for Haverly's than can be truthfully said of most minstrel companies. The comedians who took the "ends" last night deserve more than a mere mention. Few men have risen more rapidly than George Wilson, whom amusement goes will recollect as very low down in the business a few years ago. He is now one of the best comedians on the minstrel stage, and gives promise of reaching the top of the profession. Since his last appearance here, a comparatively short time, he has improved very much, and he needs nothing but hard work to give him a great success. But Wilson's rise, though rapid, will not compare to that of a few months ago was wholly unknown and unnoticed. There is the greatest possible difference between their styles, and one can not touch upon the province of the other. Without exception Barlow is the best de-mo-ni-strator of the old plantation negro in the country, and as a negro character actor in any part he shows a faithfulness to nature and ability that suggests his capacity for much higher parts. He needs practice and study. There are some faults in his acting, his enunciation is not good, often, but the ability is there, and care and study will bring it out. Barlow can make a name and a fortune if he has the presidency.

Thos. N. Patterson vs. August Stuckmeyer. Appeal from Justice Court. Finding for plaintiff for $19.70.

Room No. 1, Judge Blair.
Fannie Ballman et al. vs. John Landers et al. Damages. On trial by jury.

CITY COURT.

"Poisonous influence" operated on W. A. McNamee, Thomas J. McGuire, and John Anderson. Edward Neal assaulted his wife; Allen B. Rudison, similar charge, was acquitted. Wm. R. Helsey and Dan. Keppel were profane. Frank Glenn disturbed the peace. George Miller, Maggie James, Emma Weltmore, and Alice Lord, violators of the license ordinance, were committed. Frank Glenn was acquitted of larceny. Wm. Blink drove fast and Anna Williams disturbed the peace.

Building Permits.

Permits for the following improvements have been issued by the City Clerk during the past week:
Frank Hall, frame dwelling, Rock street, $1,000.
G. Ittenbach, brick dwelling, Harrison, near Gady, $1,000.
J. M. Kelly, frame dwelling, Spann avenue, $1,000.
J. G. Doughty, brick business block, Indiana avenue, near 22nd, $2,000.
Frank Erdemeyer, brick business block, Alabama, near Maryland, $10,000.
W. G. Mason, frame addition, Alabama, near Lincoln, $2,500.
Joseph L. Fisher, brick dwelling, Fletcher avenue, near 22nd, $2,000.
Mattie J. Watson, addition to dwelling, Fayette, near Walnut, $500.
Phillip Bell, butcher shop, Dunlap, $500.
T. P. Griffith, frame dwelling, Bellefontaine, near Christian, $500.
R. Petrie, frame dwelling, Elizabeth, near Patterson, $500.
Michael Warren, frame dwelling, Meridian, near Morris, $500.
Lois Miller, frame dwelling, Coburn, near New Jersey, $500.
Brainerd Bolton, three frame dwellings, Benton, near Washington, $2,000.
Six minor permits, valued at $1,050. Total permits 20; value $30,350.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate have been filed for record since our last report:
J. H. Vajen to E. D. Johnson, part lot 20, 16, 17, 18, $5,000.
D. Van Wie to E. S. Folsom, part lot 28 in Vajen's sub, $400.
D. L. Hosbrook et al. to J. L. Hosbrook, lot 2 in Hosbrook's sub, $9,700.
The Indianapolis Car Company to W. W. Reeves, lot 3 in company's add, $2,350.
H. W. Reeves to H. H. Hulse, lot 2 in Indianapolis Car Company's add, $2,500.
John H. Moore to George Hocker, lot 2 in Indianapolis Car Company's add, $2,500.

Down, Down, Down.

Go the prices to meet the times. If you are going to make any of your friends a birthday or bridal gift, recollect that Colcaizer, at 14 East Washington street, has a large and complete stock of watches, diamonds and fine jewelry generally, besides a full stock and variety of patterns of Gorham Manufacturing Company's Sterling Silverware. Prices are placed to meet the wants of the times.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Buy your hats direct from the manufacturer. No gentleman appears to advantage under an ill-fitting hat. A hat may rest easy upon the head, but its features will not be agreeably and properly displayed. The true artist understands this, and this is the secret of the great success of Ike Davis, Conner & Co., 22 West Washington street.

Sportsmen, attention! No matter if you go only for one day's enjoyment, you will find John A. McGraw's Sporting Club, a capital favorite to have with you. He has, at 35 West Washington street and 16 North Illinois street, many other brands which are highly popular. Give them a trial.

The greatest Exposition may fairly be said to be at Harry Craft's jewel hall, 24 East Washington street. Here is seen in beautiful array watches of all sizes and from the best manufacturers in the world, diamonds of all sizes and colors, sets of jewelry of charming patterns and designs, and in fact everything that is needed to make a first-class jewelry establishment.

The celebrated Congress Saratoga water in bottles and on draught, at Cobb's corner drug store, opposite Hotel Bates and Occidental House.

Taggart's bread and crackers are the best.

Any of the following dietetic preparations—tapioca, sago, gelatine, arrow root, rice flour, oat meal and corn starch—can be had at Browning & Sloan's Apothecaries' Hall, 7 and 9 East Washington street.

Fall and winter fashions in millinery: Having received a large and select stock of straw, felt, and velvet hats and bonnets, ribbons, feathers, and flowers, kid gloves, and corsets, we are now prepared to show these goods at prices that will insure quick sales. Straw, felt, and velvet hats altered to the new styles.

Grand Social Ball at Shakespeare Hall Tuesday night, September 22. Admission 50 cents.

Not a day passes hardly but that some account from somewhere of a large and destructive fire, while they who are the more thoughtful have their property insured—there are many who, thoughtless and careless, neglect their fire insurance, lose all they have. For fear you may be of this class, go at once and insure your property in the Franklin Fire Insurance Company, of Indianapolis. Office in their building, corner of Market and Circle streets.

Notice.—Having resigned from the General Agency of the Mass. Mutual Life Insurance Company, I wish to ask the favor of the public in the interest of my successor, Mr. A. S. Ames. There is no safer or better life insurance company in existence, and it would be well for all contemplating life insurance to interview Mr. Ames on the subject before deciding.

The office has been removed from room 18, Baldwin's block, to room 25, Martindale's Block, over Evening News office, Pennsylvania street. DANIEL MACATELY, nls

See Engle & Drew before you buy your winter's supply of coal.

Burnett's Kalliston, as a wash for the complexion, has no equal. It is distinguished for its cooling and soothing properties, removing tan, sunburn, freckles, redness and roughness of the skin, etc., curing chapped hands, and allaying the irritation caused by the bites of mosquitoes and other annoying insects. For sale by all druggists.

It's lightning by which Engle & Drew send their orders. Its lightning coil they sell also.

The Youman silk hat is now said to be the neatest dress hat manufactured. R. S. Carr & Son, of the Occidental House Hat Store, are selling them at the low price of seven dollars.

The double arctic soda water on draught at Cobb's corner drug store, has no equal in coldness and flavor.

Do not forget that a stitch in time saves nine, and if you find the least difficulty with your watch, take it at once to H. L. Nelson, practical watchmaker, 48 N. Delaware street, basement Baldwin's block.

Mrs. Dietrichs & Walker, No. 10 East Washington street, are now receiving their fall invoices of hats, bonnets, flowers and hair ornaments. Their assortment is always of the best, and their prices are beyond competition,—items in which all ladies are interested when out shopping.

Taggart's Bakery and Lunch Stand has received a large share of public patronage during the past few days, which may be easily accounted for on the principle that the best is always the cheapest.

$10 to $1,000 invested in stocks and gold pays 200 per cent. a month. Send for particulars. Tumbridge & Co., Bankers, 2 Wall st., New York.
